A Tribute to Haji Muhammad Bashir Sb

One does not know where to begin when paying homage and tribute to the late Haji Muhammad Bashir Sb. His spirit of enterprise, his generosity of spirit, his vision for not just his own success but those around him and his unshakeable faith that one should leave the world and his surroundings better than what he inherited, made him a truly remarkable human being.

He was a man who believed that the seemingly impossible was always possible. This was reflected in his phenomenal determination to succeed as a businessman and, more remarkably, in his self-belief that we must always look beyond our individual selves and that each one of us can be a part of something that will outlive our temporary existence.

I had the good fortune of knowing him quite closely. Life and its opportunities were not presented to him on a silver platter. He worked immensely hard for everything that he built. And yet, unlike so many others, despite having seen the harsher side of life he never turned bitter. He retained a compassion for those less fortunate. He somehow managed to hold onto the empathy that our religion exhorts us to cultivate; he showed us that the only way to gain what really matters in this world and the next is to give more.

When he decided that Sheikhpura's children must have a school that provides quality education at a price affordable by all, many doubted him. The hurdles were many; ranging from bureaucracy to doubts about the long-term viability of the project. Haji sb approached this challenge in the way that he approached everything else in his life. He decided to do his best and leave the rest to Allah. Who would have thought, ladies and gentleman, that in a little-known spot of land by the railway tracks in Sheikhpura, an institution would rise that would become a breeding ground for thousands of dreams? Hardly anyone could have imagined, except perhaps someone with the faith of Haji sb that Sheikhpura would become known for a school that exists to give every child a chance at pursuing his or her dreams.

When the first bricks were laid, perhaps no one anticipated that Haji sb's resolve was stronger than the towering structure being built. He cared deeply for the school, its well-being and its students. His affection for the project ensures that every brick of success in National Model School's story had the name of Haji Muhammad Bashir firmly engraved on it. His contribution enabled thousands of success stories, inked in self-belief, to be written. In every prayer of gratitude offered by a parent in Sheikhpura, there was a prayer of greater success for Haji sb's and his vision. Those prayers and his own faith were his greatest assets. Brick by brick, year by year, he showed all of us how each hurdle could be overcome by believing in our cause---- and by embracing the opportunities as well as challenges Allah sends our way.

Thousands of children, parents and teachers from National Model School will always know that their dreams became more attainable than ever before because of the vision of Haji Bashir sb. Till now the school has seen 7600 students graduate. Our students have achieved success in Sheikhpura and beyond Pakistan. Our students today are doctors, engineers, lawyers, artists, teachers, civil servants-----and most importantly they are good, hardworking citizens. Each one of them has become part of the recipe for success set out by Haji sb. His courage and vision gave this project the roots that it needed to grow taller every year. The quality of the structure and education of our school, and in the individual as well as collective stories of its progress will always echo his name.

There may never be another individual like him. And we will always miss him. However, as we pray for his kind soul, we can also celebrate the fact that because of him thousands of National Model graduates across this country and the world will always know the importance of holding a vision and of looking beyond one's own self.

His project will continue to grow stronger and taller every year. And there can be no greater tribute to his vision than all the success stories his determination enabled. May his kind soul always rest in peace. And may he always continue to inspire us!

Ameen and thank you!

Editorial

The Editor

The new edition of “Aaghi” is finally in the hands of students. It is just a humble attempt to explore the creative genius of young minds. It provides them a chance to enlighten their vision and finally infuse new ideas into the upcoming generation. Hoping that the encouragement of our enlightened readers will pave the way for the amateur writers to hunt their talent also.

I am thankful to my respected principal and the entire editorial board who have extended full co-operation to make this endeavour successful.

The Editor

Principals Message

My Dear Students,

First of all I would like to congratulate the editorial team of our magazine for their dedication and hard work for this Endeavour.

I firmly believe Katherine Patterson when she underlines the fact that it is not enough to teach children simply to read; we have to give them something worth reading. Something that will stretch their imaginations---something that will make sense of their own lives and encourage them to reach out toward people whose lives are quite different from that of their own. Reading, much like education, is invaluable because it allows our mind to stretch beyond what we believe to be its furthest limit.

In this magazine, I hope that we have been able to provide you much material that does exactly that. I hope you find things you can relate to, think about, marvel at, but also question. Asking questions, not accepting given answers, is what will lead you to enlightenment.

In the end, I would again like to thank the editorial board. The many hours they have put in ensures that you have in your hands a wonderful magazine this year. And I wish you all many happy hours pursuing this journal. May the words in here become your friends. I pray that you achieve all you aspire for. And become agents of change to make this world a better place.

Life is worth Living

| Ayesha Tariq
10th-J

“No one finds life worth living, he must make it worth living”.

A wit when asked whether life was worth living, replied that it all depended upon the “Liver”. By punning upon the word “liver”, he gave the best answer that could be given to this question. For it is only a man with a good liver who can enjoy life to the full. Again life is what you make of it. Thus, if the liver the person who lives life is an optimist, he would describe life as worth living, but if he is a pessimist he would rave and rant against it. They regard life as a cruel joke.

Some people think that money is the thing which makes life worth living but the real things that make life worth living are: a good health, plenty of sincere friends, nature, art, literature, games and amusements. A poor man who enjoys a good Physique is better than a rich millionaire who suffers from insomnia. The company of merry and witty friends enables many of us in overcoming disappointment.

Nothing helps in life's battle more than courage. And pessimism is the formation of all the tragedies in life. It shuts our eyes towards the beauties of life. It demands action, sheer courage to meet demands of time. In the most desperate circumstances, we should not let the hope gone. We should be able to rise above cowardice and ignore the dangers that threaten us. We should believe that we have the ability to face them. The word “fear” should not exist in our vocabulary.

Sometimes we feel that life is not worth living. It is during such dark moments that some of us commit suicide or debate the point that whether they should live in the world or not. Failure is the one poison of life against which there is no antidote. Disappointment in Love, in passing an examination, in securing a job, in reaching one's goal, has been the cause of many a suicide in the world. The person who commits suicide is convinced that life is not worth-living. But again, the only thing which convinces him for this is pessimism. So he should get rid of it.

In a nut shell, there are so many things which make us cling to life especially the beauty of nature, the fascinating pursuits, and exciting adventures. So we should remember that: “In the end, it is not the years in your life that count but it's the life in your years”.

Hard Work is the Key To Success

| Esha Farhat
10th-J

Hard work is the key to success. Nothing can be achieved without hard work. Edison worked for twenty-one hours a day. He slept for two or three hours on the laboratory tables with his books on his pillow.

“To be successful, the first thing you do is to fall in love with your work”.

Work is a privilege and a pleasure; idleness is a luxury that none can afford. Man is born to work and prosper in life. Work is worship. It exalts man if it is done honestly. Those who toil are, sooner or later, rewarded with the luck and success.

“A dream does not become reality through magic, it takes sweet determination and hard work”. (Colin Powell)

A man of action acts when it is necessary. There is no tomorrow for him. He makes the best of his time. Life is full of struggle. Life is action not contemplation. Activity is the law of nature.

“Work until you no longer have to introduce yourself”.

Greatness can be achieved by great labour only. What a man earns by the sweat of his brow gives him a greater degree of satisfaction, than what he gets by a stroke of fortune. Man wishes to have many things in life. Some of them may be bestowed upon him by fortune, but to the others, he will have to work, for he cannot have them for mere wish. In the end, I would say that success and greatness lie in hard, honest and selfless work.

“Striving for success without hard work is like trying to harvest where you haven't planted”.

A Mother's Love

| Eman Wasem
7th-(Sunflower)

There is no love so lasting, so strong, so unselfish, so devoted as that a mother's love. It begins with your birth and ends with her death. It will follow you through childhood and youth from the cradle to the grave, if not in reality, in memory; it will stimulate you to every noble and heroic action you may contemplate or do, and deter you from many an evil one. The memory of it alone will sweeten many a cup of sorrow in after years, lighten many an hour of darkness, and the soft music of her voice in gentle accents you will often hear years after she perhaps, is no more. You may lose everything in this world; a mother's love will alone stick by you; you may go down, down to the lowest depths of degradation, be steeped in crime and sin, an outcast from your fellow beings, when at the eleventh hour the memory of your mother and her undying love may come with all its early strength and warmth, may be the means of wresting you from the very jaws of hell. The blessing of having had a good and a kind mother is one blessing unequalled.

So, I would like to say, "Always love your mother because you will never get another".

Mom nothing could be better than you.

I love you so much that words can't explain. Please always be with me.

Sisters

| Hadia Sarwar
7th-(Sunflower)

Sisters are the best support for us. They give us their shoulder when we are hurt or weeping. They help us in every difficult situation of our life even when they are far away. They help us in our studies and practical life. They love us much more than we can imagine. They are the best friends of our selves. Their hearts consist of pure love and their brains contain sweet memories of times with their sisters when they had fun. Those memories are unforgettable. Even if they scold, they do that for our own good and out of pure love. They calm us down and keep us company when we are tense or worried. I am lucky because I have sisters. Those who do not have sisters cannot feel the warmth of their love. We should probably respect and obey our sisters, they won't ever leave us alone. They will always be there for us.

I wish all sisters live a happy life!

Biological Weapons

| Maria Kanwal
Teacher

Biology is a branch of science in which we study about the living things, their function, anatomy, living habits etc. it is estimated that about 7.77 million animals and 2,98,000 plants of different species are present on our earth. And the number of species is increasing day by day.

People are now familiar about the term biology but still do not know about the term biological weapons.

This term may be new for many people. Biological weapons are living agents like viruses, bacteria and fungi.

It can be defined as:

“A Harmful biological agents (fungi, viruses, bacteria etc.) used as a weapon to cause death or disease usually on a large scale”.

These microscopic organisms are used because they can replicate rapidly and increase their number instantly. Other organisms for example reptiles and mammals are also used as biological weapons. On history detail, the earlier documented incident of intention to use biological weapon was recorded in 184 BC. In naval battle against the king of Pergamon, the king of carthage had clay pots filled with venomous snakes and he instructed his sailors to throw them on to the deck of the enemy's ship.

Another king used arrows which were coated with poison or disease causing microbes. Some polluted the wells, rivers and fresh water with poisonous agents. Many more examples are present in human history. Biological weapons are used to destroy the economy, politics or health of a country. They might be used to defeat the army or to create anarchy. Some-times many medical companies also use them to increase their business. But now many laws are formed which prohibit the use of biological weapons. Just like BWC, the first multilateral disarmament treaty banning the development, production and stock piling of an entire category of weapons.

Dream

| Uswa Maryam
10th-T

I feel like I am in a race. A race of something I don't even know about it. We all are running in our tracks given to us by others. We just keep running, thriving and we think finally our efforts will bear fruit one day.

I see people all around me.

All of them are struggling to do something they don't even dream of doing.

People like to make fun of others who dream.

They say,

“You are unrealistic”.

Well, being unrealistic is not so bad after all.

If a scientist stays realistic, how he would be able to invent something.

He has to dream and imagine something before he works over it.

Dreams should be our passion. They should be our driving force.

If you are one of those people who don't dream who see only darkness, when they close their eyes to go to sleep. Then know this you are not alive.

You are not living a life, you are just surviving it.

Dream big despite in whatever conditions you are “Because no dream is too big and no dreamer too small”.

The Choice of a Profession

| Andleeb Rana
F.Sc. Part II

All men are not equal in body as well as in mind. Every man has his own tastes, likes and dislikes. A man does best for which he has talent. However, it is not a very easy task to choose one's profession in life, particularly when the choice is to be made at the time when mind refuses to listen the advice of others and has not gained anything by experience. The choice of a profession is of great importance and significant to those who aspire after success in life. This being the subject common to all, much importance should be attached to the choice of a profession.

Man is unquestionably a being of circumstances. He is what his environment has made him to be.

Everyone of us is destined by the providence of a particular vocation or skill. Who is to guide and direct us? Which way should we follow of the countless ones that lie ahead of us? But we are not at our liberty to choose the one we like.

We must not on that account lose heart, for one is sure to step in as our guide, in the person of our guardian or tutor. A beginner who is too young to distinguish between right and wrong must not be allowed to make a choice of his profession independent of the advice of his elders. That important task, therefore, naturally should lie with those who are concerned with his future welfare.

The first and foremost duty of guardian is to study minutely and thoroughly the mental and physical capacities, the natural tastes and aptitudes of the girl rather than the acquisitions she / he may make in later life. In other words, the guardian should study what he/she is rather than what he/she should turn to be. The primary difficulties lie in declining what is in keeping with his tastes and age when he/she is not sufficiently mature. Moreover, young minds experience numerous changes in the course of a few years. It is not safe and desirable. Therefore, a man's disposition goes a long way towards determining his choice once for all.

Yum-e-Takbeer

| Aman Imran
8th-J

Friends, as all of us know on 28th May we celebrate Yum-e-Takbeer. Do you know the story behind this day. Let me tell you. On 28th May, 1998, Pakistan gained immense respect in the Muslim World because Pakistan conducted its successful cold test (means nuclear bomb test). This was done by a team of nuclear scientists headed by Dr. Samar Mubarak Mund.

In fact the efforts had started in 1950's when PAEC (Pakistan Atomic Energy Commission) was established. It had two mandates, one was for peaceful purposes other was to develop the nuclear program. 1963 was a land Mark as we found Uranium. Then our geologists found Uranium in Dera Ghazi Khan. Then they set up mills to extract high grade Uranium from this.

By 1974,75 India exploded Atom Bomb. This promoted Pakistan to really launch all her efforts to build her own Bomb.

First step was to locate site for testing the Bomb and this was done in 1976. As Chaghi was selected. Second was to convert Uranium to other compound which will provide fuel for Nuclear programme. Infrastructure of Bomb was completed in 1980 upto 1983 we were ready with our first complete bomb prepared for the cold test. In 1998 when our neighbours were threatening our existence that was the time to conduct the test it Chaghi was chosen for this test because firstly, it had no population nearby secondly it had dry mountains with very low water contents. Because water in such area can be a cause for the leakage of Radioactive rays.

At the temperature of 50^oC, it was not an easy job. Seventy people managed to live in five mud huts where there was no proper drinking water. In spite of all these unfavourable conditions, everything went well by the help of Allah.

On 28th May, 1998 at Zohar time, bomb was set and team left for detonation. At 3:16 pm bomb was detonated with cries of Allah-o-Akbar Pakistan had its successful test. It became a nuclear power. The Chagai mountain turned white due to the effect of radioactive rays.

STORIES

“Story of a Clown”

| Uswa Maryam
10th-T

People looked sad and depressed and as the happy boy walked down the street he wondered what was the reason behind their woe.

The smile on the boy's face was as bright as the sun but no one looked at him. He thought and thought about how he could bring a smile on people's faces.

An idea came to his mind. He ran towards his home.

Moments later, a clown came out of the house. His mouth was painted in a funny way. In his hands there were such colourful balloons which matched his dress.

Children gathered around him. He started jumping up and down. The children laughed at him.

The adults didn't notice him. He ran after them, doing weird stunts to make them laugh.

At first they tried to hide their smiles but the happy aura around the clown made their sadness vanish away.

Soon all the people were laughing and smiling. The clown was happy that he had put smiles on their faces.

Days, months and years passed. Every day the boy who was now man, dressed up as clown and roamed the streets and put smile on people's faces.

One day as the clown walked in a street, he felt strange sensation in his heart. It was like someone was gripping his heart really tight.

People were gathering around him and laughing at him as he clutched his heart.

To the people, it was just a part of the show. It was so funny, to see the clown acting like he was in pain.

The next day as the clown painted the smile on his face he wondered why couldn't he smile naturally anymore.

He walked in streets and did his usual work. Making people smile. The pain in his heart, however grew more and more.

Finally the day came when his pain was put to an end by God. He died. People buried him.

The person being buried was just an ordinary man.

Not some funny ridiculous clown. He was a real human after all.

Just like that clown, a lot of people exist in this world. They have a purpose of life that involves doing things for others.

They spend their whole life doing it and never does anyone realize that just because of a person who walks wearing the clown's mask does not mean he doesn't possess a face behind it.

Just because he smiles all the time for you, doesn't mean he cannot cry for himself.

Count the blessings not the curses.

Once there was a boy. His father was very poor. He worked in a factory and he had a meagre salary. The boy used to cry for new costly shoes but his father couldn't afford. So, he bought cheap shoes for him but the boy was disappointed. He got angry and left the house. He sat near a bus stop. He wondered when he would get the expensive pair. Just then a beggar passed by on his crutches. The boy was shocked to find that the beggar had no legs. He at once realized his mistake and thanked God for giving him legs. He decided never to complain about the things he didn't have. So, we should be contented with what we have.

One believer and a thousand doubters

| Uswa Maryam
10th-T

Harsh words are worse than swords they cut deeper in your flesh than the sharpest of swords can do. But if you believe in something then don't let people tell you that you cannot do that. There was a girl who followed this path. Her name was Meliha. She was nice and kind but she was not confident. When she was small, she had an accident that made her stutter.

Alas, Meliha's biggest dream was to become a singer. She had a sweet voice. When she sang. She did not stutter.

Meliha found enough courage to pursue her dream because of her father. He always said "I believe in you".

Meliha participated in a singing competition and there she was bullied by all the girls.

The first time when she sang in front of the judges, she felt nervous and afraid.

She was in a room full of doubters who had not the slightest of faith in her. Her voice shook and tears came into her eyes. She closed her eyes and stopped singing. She wanted to run away and never come back. But she recalled her father's words, "I believe in you" so she opened her eyes and sang again.

She kept on trying but the people who doubted her always made her feel confused and hopeless. Sometimes she felt that she should just leave everything and go away.

But she kept on trying. The day came which was going to decide her fate. She walked on the stage and saw her father in the crowd. He gave her a thumbs-up.

Meliha repeated his words to herself. "I believe in you". Then she sang. She sang with full confidence and won the competition. When she was asked to say something, She said, "If the there a Arrre a thou Thous Sus sand d Ou Bters, o One ppup.... person Who Ha Has b Bubs Belief in yyou You cue can mmum make y Ou b.. bub Believe I...in y ... your s susself".

The crowd applauded and no one found her stuttering funny anymore.

POEMS

My School Days

| M. Usman Nasir Warich
10th-B

A day may come when you walk through the large gate of your school.

Walking through that lonely white path covered with dry leaves.

Where,

Smiles were shared, love was made, hearts were broken and tears spilled.

Then!!

You step into the lonely classroom, only memories will accompany you. You may see yourself on every bench laughing and murmuring with your friends.

Then!! You will realize that years ago but.

“My Heaven Was Here”

And those good days will never come back again.

You will remember some of your friends at that time and drop a tear for them.

“That's life”

Value these days, if you still have them.....

Childhood

| Rana Shuja
6th-A

The period is over,
The days are gone,
Sitting alone,
Visualizing the days,
I see behind,
In the mirror of mind,
Perfect and pure,
The innocent and immature,
That passed very fast.

The Judgemental World

| Uswa Maryam
10th-J

Do as you are told
 Yet follow your heart
 Act mature, you are, now old
 But you're young, so don't be smart
 Be obedient and polite
 Yet don't be trampled on
 Speak up for your right
 But if you don't get it, don't fight
 Be brave enough to say what you want
 But why are you so outspoken?
 Your opinion doesn't matter, you're just an infant
 But speak up or in the end you'll be broken
 Follow your dreams
 But only if we approve it
 Be the lantern that gleams
 But we'll keep the matchbox that lights it
 You are very pretty
 But how about a little make-up?
 If you don't diet, trust me
 Your stomach is gonna break up
 It is okay to cry
 But why are you so fragile?
 Open up to people, you can atleast try

But why don't you cover up your tears with a smile
Someone says, "You are nice".
Someone says, "You are rude".
People form opinions without thinking twice
They make it so hard, harder than the wood
They judge you, so they can feel tall
They make you think you're wrong, when you are not at all
They make you feel guilty, they make you feel small
And almost always, they are, the reason behind your fall
Believe me, they don't know you
Your worries, troubles and pain
They stick on first impressions, so follow your path, it's perfectly sane

“Song of the School”

| Uswa Maryam
10th-J

I was very cool
Before I entered the school.
I completely changed
After everything I faced
But now that I am wise
This thing I now realize

Schools are the best centers
For little kids to enter

Because life is sometimes cold
You have to be then bold

This is not all fake
For your own life's sake

You have to think hard
Before every step you make

Peace

| Arshamal Munir
6th-T

Daily I look around
I look up, I look down,
Every where people are having a fight,
Our future is dark that was once bright,
Why can't people live with love,
Why can't people act like a dove,
Dove is the symbol of peace,
So act like a dove not a geese,
Come on let's make this Earth better,
Come on hold hands and stay together,
Come let's love the people we hate,
Come let's make our future great,
Come let's stay cheerful,
And make this Earth peaceful,

QUOTES

Wise Words

| Zainab Yaqoob
10th-T

Work:

1. Work is no disgrace, there is disgrace in idleness (Greek Proverb)
2. Work isn't to make money you work to justify life (Mark Chagall).

Happiness:

1. There are hundreds of languages in this world but a smile speaks them all.
2. Keep your face to sunshine and you cannot see the shadow.
3. To be happy, you must be your own sunshine.

Friendship:

1. A strong friendship does not need daily conversation, doesn't always need togetherness. As long as the relationship lives in the heart, true friends will never part.
2. Friends are like birds, if you hold tightly they die. If you let them loose, they fly away but if you hold with care they remain with you forever.

Man's forgetfulness.

Allah gives and forgives but man gets and forgets.

Education:

A child without education is like a bird without wings.

Truth:

All truth passes through three stages, first it is ridiculed, second, it is violently opposed. Third, it is accepted as being self-evident.

Ways of thinking:

1. Don't ask why others keep hurting you. Ask yourself why you allow them.
2. Jealousy comes from counting others blessings instead of our own.
3. I cannot change yesterday but I can change today.
4. You are never a loser until you quit trying.

Golden Words

| Syed M. Junaid
10th-T

- Distance does not separate people, silence does.
- Ego is just a small three letter words, which can destroy a big twelve letter word called relationship.

The Donkey and his Mother

| M. Moez Khalid
3-R

Many years ago, a donkey worked for a herb seller. The donkey was very unhappy. He felt that his master made him work very hard and gave him too little to eat. So one day the donkey prayed to god Jupiter. He begged Jupiter to give him a new master.

Jupiter granted him his request. However, Jupiter also warned the donkey that he would be sorry for his request. The next morning, the herb-seller took the donkey to the market place and sold him to a tile-maker.

The tile-maker made the donkey work harder than ever. The donkey had to carry loads of heavy bricks on his back. Once again, the unhappy donkey prayed to god Jupiter and begged him for a new master.

Jupiter said, "It is for the last time that I am fulfilling your wish". The next morning, the tile maker sold the donkey to a tanner.

When the donkey found out his new master's occupation, he cried out, "Oh God! I have been so foolish. Although my previous masters starved me and made me work hard, they were still better. My new master, the tanner, will use me even after I die".

However, there was no way he could escape him because god Jupiter could not grant him any more wishes.
